

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The claim is for a trading card game toy that consists of a plurality of cards for creating new trading card games in which each said card is personalized. In order to personalize each said card, the format of the front side of each said card is blank or mostly blank with variations of templates with guidelines for drawing, writing, in or around, thereof, including coloring, painting, stamping, stickers, and all other forms considered to be art techniques. A matte finish on the front of the card will make the surface amenable to the direct application of art. The back side or opposite side of each card will contain the same printed logo such that the backs will all look the same. A protective plastic or a type of lamination will cover the back of said cards to add support to the card and increase the longevity of its use. Additional embodiments of the invention shown and described may be made without departing from the true spirit of the invention. The claims are therefore intended to cover any such changes and modifications as fall within the true spirit and scope of the invention.
